WIDOW'S MOTHER LOVE WON.

Refused Fiance Who Planned to Send Her Children Away.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Meriden, Conn., Aug. 12.—While the wedding guests were waiting at the Methodist parsonage to witness the marriage of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Caldwell and Carl Frederickson, the prospective bride and groom were eloped with the Reverend Frank A. Rosfield, pastor of the church, who soon after announced there would be no ceremony.

Those assembled were surprised to see Mrs. Caldwell immediately leave the house, enter a waiting carriage and hastily leave the scene. Mr. Frederickson soon set out afoot.

Mrs. Caldwell is a divorced woman and has two young children. It seems Mr. Frederickson informed her at the eleventh hour that the children would have to go to the Curtis Home, an orphan asylum. The mother refused to agree to this and the separation followed.

SOCIETY FOLK IN DEBT.

Prominent Persons Owed Pittsburgh Caterer Who Failed.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 12.—A surprise was sprung when James B. Youngson, a prominent caterer, filed a petition in bankruptcy. It was evidently not expected by many of his society patrons, as there are many accounts which would have been settled instead of being allowed to enter the courts.

Under the heading of "outstanding accounts" Mr. Youngson shows that $1,700 is to be collected and the names of those who owe this amount cover four typewritten pages. Almost every society matron in Pittsburgh is in debt to Mr. Youngson, some owing perhaps only 50 cents. The list does not include business men who are able to pay the bills a thousand times over.
